> Johnston won to-day mainly through his steadiness and Williams's erratic playing in the tight places. In the third set the Boston player uncorked a burst of brilliancy that carried him through a remarkable series of placements and service aces. Johnston did not show the same type of convincing tennis that marked his playing of previous years.

tennis that marked his playing of previous years.

The court was heavy from the rains of last night, and Williams was unable to move around at the speed which the successful execution of his unorthodox shots demands. He showed his qualities as a fighter in the fourth set, when he staved off defeat until the fourteenth game. The struggle came to a finish on a net by Williams.

While the majority of his points came through Williams's errors, Johnston occasionally contributed forehand drives for placement shots down the side lines that approached the spectacular. The Westerner played mostly from his baseline and came to the net only when drawn in.

Eli Football Squad Off to Gales Ferry For Training Soon

Candidates and Coaches to Use Crew Quarters While at Preliminary Exercises

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 30 .- Yale or mountain resort, as many univer-sities are doing, the Eli officials have decided to establish a gridiron training camp at Gales Ferry, where for more than thirty years Yale coarsmen have passed a month in finishing their training for their races with Harvard. In making the passed a month in finishing their training for their races with Harvard. In the case of the gridiron squad the training period will be reversed, beginning instead of ending with the Gales Ferry work.

The plan is for the football squad to go to Gales Ferry on September 19, the week before the opening of the fall term. The coaches, candidates for the eleven and the trainers will total nearly a hundred persons, and this number may be exceeded before the squad leaves the banks of the Thames.
